

Communication Arts I

Course Description

Communication Arts I is designed to offer students an introduction into various aspects of video production. Focus of the course will be on the communication process. Writing assignments focus on critical viewing skills, scripts, and storyboards.

The application of these concepts is present in the programs the students produce. This course will allow students to do live studio programs as well as edited productions. Students utilize post-production processes, including title animation, sound effects editing, and more.