

Physical Fitness

Course Description

This one- semester course provides students with a solid foundation in physical education instruction as well as insight for future elective courses. Students will experience instruction in cardiovascular training and strength conditioning as part of a lifelong fitness plan. Activities include both team and individual sports.